We are very proud of our strong relationship with Japan and the Japanese business community in Houston. Japan accounts for nearly $10 billion in trade with Houston, and 102 Japanese firms operate 227 subsidiaries in the Houston area including Daikin North America, Mitsubishi International, Toshiba Corporation International, and VAM USA. Houston's robust trade and cultural relationships with Japan are facilitated by Consulate General of Japan, the Japan Business Association, the JETRO - Japan External Trade Organization, and the Japan America Society to name only a few. All Nippon Airways and United Airlines offer daily nonstop passenger flights from Houston to Tokyo. The region is building the high-speed rail between Houston and Dallas with great support from Central Japan Railway, Texas Central, and partners throughout the Japanese private and public sector. We look forward to re-scheduling our delayed trade mission to Japan in 2021 and again thank the JBAH for their generous donation.

The Japan Business Association of Houston (JBAH) and the JBA Houston Foundation, with contributions from their constituent companies and individual members, made a $50,000 #donation to the Houston community last week. This included a $25,000 donation to the Greater Houston COVID-19 Recovery Fund and a separate $25,000 donation to the Harris Health COVID-19 Response Fund.

Today, around 5,000 people living in Houston metro area are of Japanese origin. Japan is Houston's 8th largest trading partner, with trade increasing to more than $9.5 billion in 2018, a record high. Houston is beyond proud to have a longstanding #sistercity relationship with #Chiba City, Japan since 1972. We are grateful to have these partnerships that help serve and protect Houstonians. The city of #Houston thanks you!
